Listening for the sweetness
Buried in your silent treatment
How many walls did I face

You're allergic to change and I
Wanna say something then I'll Leave you to take your way of lovin' to the grave
Sometimes when you're hurting
The hurt is blinding
Who decides when something's
Not worth saving

We've always had a place to hide
So being here, just you and I
Feels like a confessional
I'm bound to say how I feel & I can't lie
Cause it was so beautiful
It used to feel so natural
And if I'm telling the truth tonight
Im looking for a way of saying goodbye

Took a wrong turn somewhere
Burned the bridges that could take us
But there pretendend to be something that where Come never put my finger on it
But maybe if you're be honest
I'll want what we've got
