

Potato Eaters

"Casey"

Visit "Casey" on MotoLyrics.com

Casey, once told me he loved me.
Maybe, he still does but something has changed.
His mind has changed!

Casey, says watch my lips their moving,
take me for what I say not what I'm doing.
But times have changed
He's not the same.

But I will dream of you tonight
Your face stands out against the lights
and I will search the skies for you
behind your words.

Casey, left me Saturday morning,
staring at the phone
no use in calling
times have changed
he's not the same.

Casey, now what he's left behind's uncovered mostly it doesn't hurt but I have suffered,
I have changed,
I'm not the same.

But I will dream of you tonight
Your face stands out against the lights
and I will search the skies for you
behind your words.

Casey, once told me he loved me
Maybe, he still does but something has changed
He's not the same.

Casey, I will dream of you tonight!
I will dream of you tonight!
I will dream of you tonight!

