Each day puts me further from where I'm from
And each day puts me closer to you
Each day gets me closer to the outcome
No matter what I do I'll run to you

I'm finding I'm lovable
No matter what I've been told
You're breaking down my divide
When you look in my eyes
Your smile it makes me warm
Your voice it calms my storm
I'm finding that you may be all that I may need
To find that I'm lovable

Some days I don't know what I should do with you
And other days I know it feels so right
I'm trying not to let myself be worthy
So I can have forgiveness in my life

I'm finding I'm lovable
No matter what I've been told
You're breaking down my divide
When you look in my eyes
Your smile it makes me warm
Your voice it calms my storm
I'm finding that you may be all that I may need
To find that I'm lovable

I'm walking with you tonight
In the half-moonlight
And the moment it feels, it feels so right

I'm finding I'm lovable
No matter what I've been told
You're breaking down my divide
When you look in my eyes
Your smile it makes me warm
Your voice it calms my storm
I'm finding that you may be all that I may need
To find that I am lovable
No matter what I've been told

You're breaking down my divide
When you look in my eyes
Your smile it makes me warm
Your voice it calms my storm
I'm finding that you may be all that I may need
To find that I am lovable
