

The Whitlams

"You Gotta Love This City"

Visit "You Gotta Love This City" on MotoLyrics.com

You gotta love this city, love this city, you gotta love
this city
You gotta love this city, love this city, you gotta love
this city

Too sick for breakfast, the car wouldn't start
The train was really full, and his girlfriend had a boyfriend
The houses all the same, now here's the rain
Not falling but collapsing at his feet
Deep breath and he clocks on, raincoat on his arm
He wishes the hours would disappear

But the trip's in vain 'cause awaiting him
A lay-off notice and his severance pay
He shuffles back to the train again
You gotta love this city

You gotta love this city, love this city, you gotta love
this city
You gotta love this city, love this city, you gotta love
this city

Back home he lies in bed for days and days
Watching American television, smoking
And playing with himself ringing double-O double-5
Into town on Thursday night
The girls are pretty and the lights are bright
At least he loves his city

Holding court on Taylor Square proper was the man he could become
Lear's Fool is a bum now
With seven holy parcels by his side

You gotta love this city, love this city, you gotta love
this city
You gotta love this city, love this city, you gotta love
this city

He walks along the foreshore, he's got a bottle

And he's breathing with his city

It was busy everywhere he went
There was a crowd over the bay
And a fireworks display
It's all very strange for a Thursday night thought he Then it dawns on him as a cracker explodes
And who the hell is he going to blame?
It dawns on him - the horror - we got the Olympic Games

You gotta love this city for its body and not its brain

And he screams "My city is a whore, opened herself to the world
Jumped up and down in pastel shirts
And lathered up thinking about designs for T-shirts"

You gotta love this city for its body and not its brain

It's more than he can take, and the stars' reflection breaks

'Cause you can lead a horse to water, but you can't make it enjoy the view

You gotta love this city

He's had enough and he sinks to the bottom

Words and music by Tim Freedman

Produced by Rob Taylor and Tim Freedman

Mixed and engineered by Rob Taylor

Vocal, Rhodes electric piano - Tim Freedman

Backing vocals - Marcia Hines

Hammond organ - Clayton Doley

Guitar - Mark Punch

Flute, congas, tabla - Babs

Marimba - Jess Ciampa

Bass - Jackie Orszaczky

Drums, bells - Hamish Stuart

Visit The Whitlams page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.