Just before you called, I thought we were doing fine.
But I was wrong.
Yeah your voice came down the line forced me to the thought of life if you were gone.
We're just tired of talking to the busy sounds.
The hardest heart still breaks when it goes without.
We're all the ghosts of who we used to be.
And we might know, if we could see.

Chorus

Don't look now 'cause I can't escape.
I get so restless.
We won't know until it's too late.
But I'll have years to think of the way I'd do the things I did just to chase the pain away.
We're here now and I can change, but I'm still restless.

Push the urge away to wake up feeling just the same as yesterday.
Time, it heals the pain , but painful is the angry heart
when time remains.
We're just tired of walking through the faceless crowd.
We keep our lonely eyes locked on the ground.
And if my legs could run me into you, then we might know, we might know.

Chorus x 3
