Do you know, do you know
That this is the end?
I know you're not gonna
Get down on your knees
You're not going to repent
But you left me nothing
So there's plenty of things to regret
Cause I was fighting, I was fighting, I was fighting
But you left me for dead

There was a time
When I saw light in you
There was a time
When it was all about you
We're not getting closer
We're just getting older
We're going to perish in the flames

But is it worth it?
Is there anything more I can say?
To make you see that you should see
What it was that you were doing to me?
But everything is different now
And I'm not who I used to be Well, the change is that I need you
Just as much as you ever needed me

There was a time
When I saw light in you
There was a time
When it was all about you
We're not getting closer
We're just getting older
We're going to perish in the flames
And until you grasp
That it is that you do
Everyone you need in life
Will fade away from you
'Cause we're not getting closer
You're just getting older you're going to perish in the flames

This is what I'm dreaming of
This is what I'm running from
This is the end
