I can't slow down and close my eyes
You wanna know how this feels inside?
Take this blade and run it through your heart
That's a pretty good head start

The few things that you hold as dear
The same things that I love to fear
Nothing now can settle this last wish
And the lies that still exist

Hold onto everything you know
Hold on for winter wind and snow
Time stands still we go our own

It's over this notion
This couldn't last forever
We'd known much better had we
Given this over sadly

Our time now is ending
And nothings left withstanding
Another day of knowing
This is the last day of our love

We knew this'd happen from the start
Those twisted ways, your thirsty heart
Lesson's learned and nothing left to say
From the beds we made that day
