So many times it seems I don't feel anything at all, there's been moments I thought my emotions had died in the fall, sometimes I need somebody to hurt me or make me cry, my life has been grey for a while and I could use some painting right now,

Won't you bring me back, won't you bring me back to life? Would you do something mad, something crazy to make me cry,

Or to hurt me now, could you try to make me smile, I need you to paint me red so I could act out of line, don't you see I need some more of your symbolic colours, because this black hole inside my heart has been coloured before, once I felt fine,

Won't you bring me back, won't you bring me back to life, won't you do something mad, really crazy to make me smile....

To make me sad or cry...you are the one who has the strength and a lion's courage to confront me, now I'm not alive,
Won't you bring me some red, won't you paint me green or blue if you wish, blue if you wish because it's you I miss in this grey world now

Won't you bring me back, won't you bring me back to
me smile....

if I can't feel anything I'd rather die...Do you remember the days when we used to hurt each other, and moments later we managed to make each other... smile....
