I can't wait to say goodbye before you break

In you, I get torn in two

You don't see my reflection in my scenes

You fall, I don't come at all

I can almost feel you bleed

You've been falling in too deep

I can almost hear you say

But your words get in my way

Why wait?

There's a world outside

Why wait?

For the reason why

I come soon from the shelter of my room

You don't move coming down on you

I can't fall, all that does is made to crawl

I'm one, leave the world undone

I can almost feel you bleed

You've been falling in too deep

I can almost hear you say

But your words get in my way

Why wait?

There's a world outside

Why wait?

For the reasons why

It ain't always what I want

It ain't always mine

Why wait?

There's a world outside

You can't win coming from the state you're in

In you, what is all makes me is

You don't see my reflections and my scenes

You fall, I don't come at all

I can almost feel you bleed

You've been falling in too deep

I can almost hear you say

But your words get in my way

Why wait?

There's a world outside

Why wait?

For the reason why

It ain't always what I want

It ain't always mine

Why wait?

There's a world outside

It ain't always what I want

It ain't always mine

Why wait?

There's a world outside
