i'm never coming back

i'm never giving in i'll never be the shine in your spit i disconnect the act

i disconnect the dots

i disconnect the me in me and you're mistaken it's you that's faking living and breathing and dying too this message is for anyone who dares to hear a fool you can't bring me back you can't bring me back cause i gave it all back to you thru sacred alleys, the living wrecks wreak their havoc upon this world the disenchanted, the romantics, the body and face and soul of you is gone down that deep black hole destroy the mind-destroy the body-but you cannot destroy the heart and you, you make me so i need to disconnect and you make it so real

i don't need your love to disconnect to runaround kids in get-go cars with vaseline afterbirths and neon coughs galaxies full of nobodies giving us the farewell runarounds i took a virgin mary axe to his sweet baby jane, lost my innocence to a no good girl, scratch my face with anvil hands, and coil my tongue around a bumblebee mouth and i give it all back to you no way, i don't need it, i don't need your love to disconnect

and you make it, so real, i don't need your love to

no way to disconnect
