ain't it funny how we pretend we're still a child softly stolen under our blanket skies and rescue me from me, and all that i believe i won't deny the pain
i won't deny the change
and should i fall from grace here with you will you leave me too?
carve out your heart for keeps in an old oak tree and hold me for goodbyes-and whispered lullabyes and tell me i am still the man i'm supposed to be
will you leave me too?
too late to turn back now, i'm running out of sound and i am changing, changing and if we died right now, this fool you love somehow is here with you

would you leave me too
