Blackmore/Gillan/Glover)

she walked into the room her hand upon her hip said look out boy i'll make your backbone slip she looked straight at me the devil in her eye i knew what i was getting but took it by surprise no fooling
she really knocked the stuffing out of me some woman a hard lovin' woman she chewed me up and spat me out

some woman
she's a hard lovin' woman some woman a hard lovin' woman

she didn't wear nothing but a smile upon her face licking her lips but i had the taste her temperature was rising i was coming to the boil her fires were burning she was pouring on the oil i do not jest she really took me to the cleaners
some woman
i felt just great when she pulled her 38's it started with a smile it turned into a laugh it ended with a scream i said enough's enough never heard a word she wouldn't let go a man's a man and every woman ought to know and there i was

and she was dancing
some woman here we go again
