Hey Joe

Where you going with that gun in your hand

Hey Joe

Now tell me where you going with that gun in your hand

I'm gonna shoot my lady

Cos I caught her messing around with another man

Yes, I'm going down to shoot my lady

Cos I caught her messing around with another man

Hey Joe

I heard you shot your woman down

Hey Joe

I heard you shot your woman down

Right down to the ground

Yes I did I shot her

You know I shot her cos I caught her messing 'round town

Yes I did I shot her

I shot my woman cos she was messing 'round town

I gave her the gun - I shot her!

Hey Joe

Tell me where you gonna run to now?

Hey Joe

C'mon tell me where you gonna run to?

Don't you worry about me

I'm going way down South

Way down South where I'm gonna be free

I'm going way down South

Way down South maybe outside Mexico Way

I'm gonna run, oh yeah

DEEP PURPLE Mk1:

Rod Evans - vocals

Ritchie Blackmore - lead guitar

Jon Lord - organ

Nick Simper - bass guitar

Ian Paice - drums

Album notes:

SHADES OF DEEP PURPLE was recorded in about 18 hours between

May 11 and May 13 1968, just a few months after the group had formed. The band was a combination of the groups ROUNABOUT

(featuring Blackmore, Lord and Simper) and THE MAZE (featuring Evans and Paice). Blackmore, Lord and Simper had been in the music business for years, Evans and Paice for not quite as long, but none of them had ever tasted major success before the release of the album.

The album was released in September and made #24, while the single off it, Hush, made #4.

Most of the initial set list was taken off this album together with other covers. Of these songs, Hush and Mandrake Root were the most popular; Hush being re-recorded in 1988, and Mandrake

Root clocking in at an unbelievable time of 28:42 on a live album.
