you try to strip my dignity but that won't work with me you tell me things are differnt now why can't i just be me jumbled thoughts inside my head are circling round n' round can't understand the things i do or the things i've found hiding behind your insecurities the truth is shining right through from you to me your underlying fears are screaming from below don't see why you attack me but someday you shall know [Chorus]
fade away into nothing slowly disappearing over time
slipping through the fingers of time looking out the window

i see you walk by the boring life you lead i see deep in your eyes same old routine nothing ever seems to change the monotony of your life there is nothing to gain diluting yourself in this watery grave you've lost all meaning just obsessed with the gain acting like everything is fine in your life but it slowly creeps up to late to end all the strife

[Chorus]

[Repeat first verse]

[Chorus]
