I get the feeling that I'm sinking in you
Your hands go through me as I'm trying to Think back on a better time
Like watching water in a rising tide

You'd not know me right now
You'd think that I was a man wanting to drown
Shaking words in my fists
Pointing to all of the things that I won't resist

Pouring out my heart
And pouring one more drink to keep it calm
'Coz I think I've hit the brink
And this is all I can take to keep going on
And going on, going on
