though our time alone was short,
i still hear the birds sing,
we may never have the time, to see what love to see what love can bring,
oh my love i just wanna make you mine

i recall the night we met there was music in the air, can't forget the warmth of your embrace,
and when we danced i could feel your loving care, but you left not a shadow not a trace.

(chorus)
and i will always be there for you every single day, even if you can not see me i will never go astray, a love like ours can even stand the test that time will bring,
so much more than a fling..

even if you love me so i can only wait so long, time has passed and i'm starting to forget, could it be could it be that i was wrong,?
wrong about wrong about the night we met

(chorus)

dont think that u can treat me just like any other girl.
ive waited for your love to take me to another world.
and now i see you never cared about me in that way.
our love has gone away..
