Each one had a father
There's no one left
A name and a mother
No one left
Each one had a dream
A prayer on their breath
The world's gone black

On the streets of Manhattan
A dusty wind blows
Letters and wishes
A girl with a rose

On the streets of Baghdad
A dusty wind blows
Letters and wishes
A girl with a rose

Each one had a father
There's no one left
A name and a mother
Each one had a dream
A prayer on their breath
The world's gone black

Fire and vengeance
In the New York sky above
Stole my angel
Stole my true love

Fire and vengeance
In the Baghdad sky above
Stole his angel
Stole his true love

I stand on my front porch
I look up at the sky
Will my world go black

In the blink of an eye

He stands out in the desert
He looks up at the sky
Will his world go lack
In the blink of an eye

Each one had a father
A name and a mother
Each one had a dream
A prayer on their breath
The world's gone black

Each one had a wish
Each one had a home
Each one had a name
A name and a rose
