You've seen better days my friend but I've seen days that would not end I've seen things that never came to be sitting and sifting through the soft debris

You've seen better days than me
I think on that we can agree and we don't agree on many things
'cause I'm the one with hoofs and you're the one with wings

See what you've done
why don't you see what you've done?

You've seen better days than me
I think on that we both can agree and we don't agree on anything
'cause I'm the one that shouts and you're the one that sings

You've seen better days my friend but I've seen things that I cannot defend I've seen things that never came to light and that's the reason I can even sleep at night

See what you've done
why don't you see what you've done?

What have you done?
