This story talks about a man/ he lived in Sollentuna/once he left to join the niggers' fight/ he never came back home again// He died strugglin' and dreamin' of his land/ and screaming loud its great name/ he was faithful to his own race/ and was killed by a black man// And now that he has died/ he will give pain to a nigger child/ tonight/ he'll dream the biggest troll/ that kills his father like a dog// na, na... // The man was loyal to his lord/ he had strength and courage/ he loved his wife who was a little doll/ he fought for all his stock// He had many things to teach his child/ who would have become like him/ but he turned to the other part/ and was banished without thinking twice// and now that...
