When you are kissed by the sun, by the sun
Rays of light as warm as a cup of milk
Shine on your tabby head
You close your eyes
It radiates life and symphonies
Just like in calm days

Yes I know how you're feeling
And the world keeps on thinking
About hundreds and hundreds lies
To freeze the minds
But I don't care, no.

When you are kissed by the sun, by the sun
You don't know how stupid human beings
Say that their own deeds
Are not natural
The Catholic Church and it's terrorists say we're nothing here
But I am worth a lot!

Yes I know...

Everybody wants to kill, wants to kill
The strong taste of knowledge because they Mistake progress and technocracy
In a dogma-light
Oh have you seen the Rainbow Warrior sink?
While it was switching the sun off, your sun off
'cause it's radioactive, it's radioactive
Like an atomic bomb
And it is dangerous!!
