She does not even warn me
Or tells me she's coming tomorrow
But suddenly she's there - On my doorstep
She does not even cry - Cry like the other girls
But suddenly there are tears - On my pillow
Her eyes are going to burn me down
Every time that she is in my town
I try to swim and then I almost drown
She's Sorrow She's Sorrow
Her shadow whispers in my ears
She is telling me about my fears
She's Sorrow She's Sorrow
She does not even want me

She tells me she is looking for another man
But suddenly she's there - At my table
She does not even smile - Smile like the other girls
But suddenly there's laughter - Outside my window
She does not even like me
She calls me a liar and a dreamer
Suddenly she's gone when I wake up
She does not even warn me
Or tell me she's coming tomorrow
But suddenly she's there - On my pillow
