What do you think?
When you put down your head
On your pillow at night

What do you feel?
When you think of your friends
Those who are no longer here

Can you sense the earth rumble?
Can you feel the tremor?
Are you afraid of the dark?
What do you feel
What do you hear

A million voices
Screaming out
Don't be afraid

There is nothing to fear
But fear itself
For strength
Comes out of despair

Can you see the shadows?
Rising from the dust
With pain, hope and sorrow

You see the embraces
You feel the bond
That comes from such despair
You can touch the fear
But you can see the resolve
That life must carry on...

What do you see?
What do you hear?

A million voices
Screaming out
Don't be afraid

There is nothing to fear

But fear itself
For strength
Comes out of despair

What do you see?
When you close your eyes
In the darkest night

What do you hear?
When you think of those
Who are no longer here

Don't be afraid
Don't be afraid
Don't be afraid
