I'm fighting for the chance to break on time
I'll never get to say goodbye
Wondering what I said to her
And I'm holding on,
This pain is so damn fucking strong
She'll always say that I was wrong
Wondering what I did to her

But I have, I've made new friends
And you won't betray me if I betray myself

Broken, bored and still I'm wondering what's left and then I'll never be your thrill
I'll never point you in the wrong direction is the word
Discretion is the palm of your hand
I will never be the person that you say you regret

And I'm holding on
This pain is so damned fucking strong
She'll never say that she was wrong
Wondering what I can say to her
And it's too late now
I can see that you're with him
I know that I will never win
Wondering how I forget about her

Broken bored and still
I am wondering what's left, I am wondering
I'll never point you in the wrong direction is the word
Discretion is the palm of your hand
I will never be the person that you say you regret

Pleasant dreams are all you have of me
You're never coming home,
You're never coming home
And pleasantries will never frighten me
You're burning out your heart.
You're burning through your heart
