There's nothing to hate, about you,
I love every little thing you do.
When you're around, shyness may get the best of me,
but inspiration would come knowing you love me.

I could sleep better,
I could laugh more,
with you,
I'm sure.

You give me your heart, and I'll promise not to break it,
And I'll give you mine, if you want to take it.
Stars will burn brightly after this,
cause the joining of two hearts is nothing to miss.

I could think straight,
I could smile more,
with you,
I'm sure.

You're seductive,
an addictive drug,
and now,
you'll be my love.

You'll be my love.
