[Verse 1] I used to make up sketches of the perfect companion one with the right combo of passion and understandin chillin on the stoop we would make up games spin the bottle truth or dare but I was way too lame till I met a chick in math class, her name was dawn she was the first girl I knew that put make up on I wanted to get wit her so I would make up lies pretend that I was gettin money like those guys on the ave who hustled 9 to 5 just to make up time only came to school once a week cuz they was on the grind begged my mom for a starter jacket and got 4 cuz I had mad deficiencies to make up for so I started talkin back to teachers and actin up I'd make up jokes that had the class crackin up but I was only concerned with that one girl with the make up, she made up my whole world [Hook] You see we, make love and fight then we lust Then we make up undress and mess up your make up again (we're going upside down, round and round again) [Verse 2] it was a rainy day, I was supposed to walk home with the fellas I made up an excuse, cause I saw dawn wit no umbrella although it belonged to my moms, I gave it to her anyway I was too shy to talk so I started to walk away until she said, you might as well stay till the bus come this is the kinda situation the old me would run from but I came back, put on my act, played it cool like them cats who would sit in the back, of the classroom I cracked jokes, talked about people walkin by and she laughed at em, I was officially livin a lie cuz I knew if she had known that I was geek, that was from the streets, but far from street, I aint have a chance then feelings started rushin like an avalanche bus was comin, so I just grabbed her hand, wrote my number in her palm wit my bic pen and we been goin steady since then, ha! [Hook] You see we, make love and fight then we lust Then we make up undress and mess up your make up again (we're going upside down, round and round again) [Verse 3] one day I showed up at the rest, decided I would surprise her she didnt have no makeup on I didnt recognize her I had to make up an excuse cuz I aint have a spine but I dont want a girl who's only pretty part time then she busted me, had the nerve call me a hypocrite said I aint the only one lyin, you aint no differ-ent she knew that I made up lies about hust-lin knew I got all my cool clothing from my mother and the sad part was that she liked me for me and I hid behind the same insecurities that she fell for, tryin to be somethin that I was not she said I liked uou, way before the bus stop she said not only can we not hang together I just got an NES we coulda gamed together so I guess the moral is, work wit what ya got better to be hated for what ya are than loved for what ya not [Hook] You see we, make love and fight then we lust Then we make up undress and mess up your make up again (we're going upside down, round and round again)
