In a backstreet bar

On the south side of town

Where the music never stops

And the sun never hangs around

Two lovers meet

And their eyes feel the heat

They're moving to the sound and they're feet never touch the ground

Never touch the ground

CHORUS

Passion play

It's a game to take your breath away

Passion play

It's a game to take your breath away

Passion play

She feels kinda shy

As she turns on the make

She got the inside moves

Always gets what she means to take

He feels kinda loose

As she tightens the noose
He's got the front runner on him
And nothing but his luck to lose
And that's a lot to lose

CHORUS

It's just a passion play
Works up a sweat
And it's all for effect
As she takes another drag
Off her cigarette
He'll never really know
Her feelings never show
She's cut him down to size
With the fire in her eyes
And nowhere to run
Nothing to say
Is there any other way
Than to call it on a passion play

CHORUS

In a backstreet bar
On the south side of town
Where the music never stops
And the sun never hangs around
Two lovers die
As the passion hits their eyes

Moving to the sound and their feet never touch the ground
