Something broke and was rattling' around
I was the reigning king, of what not to do Then you came to me and carried my crown Head over heels again, I'm looking at you As a chance to make a good decision
So I'm telling everyone who will listen

I pawned my piano, to pay for the lessons
I burned down the church, to atone for my transgressions
And I'm not the one you run to, for the answer to most questions
But I got this one! I got this one! I got this one! Yeah
Yeah I got this one

Been caught crying, when nothing was around.
This time I swear I didn't get it wrong
No one believes me, not anymore
I can't say I blame them; I've been a fool for so long So I'm telling everyone who'll listen
About a chance to make a good decision
I pawned my piano, to pay for the lessons
I burned down the church, to atone for my
transgressions
And I'm not the one you run to, for the answer to most
questions
But I got this one! I got this one! I got this one!

You are the remedy; I won't let you slip away
Even my broken clock is right twice a day
Oh when I am on a mission, tell everyone who'll listen
And I'm using my decision for you

I pawned my piano, to pay for the lessons
I burned down the church, to atone for my
transgressions
And I'm not the one you run, to for the answer to most
questions
I got this one! I got this one! I got this one...
