She came a runnin' through the wind and snow
A little cold, man, but she don't know
Well it ain't nothing wrong
It's just another way to go, yeah

She came to reach in with a child's hand
I said, "We gotta hide it, they won't understand"
Well, it hurt like an old wound
That wouldn't close

I did it anyway, sayin'
Why did you bring me here?
I should of stayed at home
Should of listened to what everyone was sayin'
I'm payin' now and it looks like it's gone, but

Never wonder
Do you just pretend?
Like to say you could make it all alone, yeah
It's not the answer
And this is not the end
You don't have to try to make it all alone

I said it slow so she'd hear it well
You know it feels like now you can never tell
It's so hard to make a change, yeah
Some people take forever and ever and ever
They say
I'm breathing so I must be all right
What's the reason for me to change my life
My time might mean nothing more, so

Never wonder
Do you just pretend?
Like to say you could make it all alone, yeah
It's not the answer
This is not the end
You don't have to try to make it all alone

I'd rather die in love than to live forever
It's like the feeling when you soul is saying "now or never"

Stop crying to the angels up above
You can live forever

She came a runnin' through the wind and snow
A little cold, man, but she don't know
And it ain't nothin' wrong
It's just another way to go

Never wonder
Do you just pretend?
Like to say that you could make it all alone, yeah
It's not the answer
And this is not the end
You don't have to try to make it all alone, yeah

Never wonder
Do you just pretend?
Like to say you could make it all on your own
It's not the answer
This is not the end
You don't have to try to make it on your own
