Stubborn

She used to take the high road anywhere
Mother of a little girl with her daddy's nose
She never expected anything

Oh what a shame

Even silence doesn't sound the same
It seems like we're waiting on someone
To say anything
Silence only brings the pain
And what I wouldn't give for that to change

Temper

He used to take the freeway everywhere
And when he'd come around
You know I'd stay away
Far Away
We never got a chance to make amends

You know two wrongs don't make it right
But even doves know when to fight
God forbid as your God has forbidden you
God forbid as your God has forbidden you

Seems like we're waiting on a change
