Is it somebody on a corner or someone on a subway
Or a baby with a baby selling her body for money
I know that you've seen them a relative or a good friend
Childhood dreams been shattered thinkin' that life don't matter

When your hearts been wounded tell me who can you turn to
Do you try to improve it, or accept, what your'e goin'
through
Tell me what were you thinkin', tell me what you've become
You feel yourself sinkin' and you know that you need some

(Healin')
Tell me what's goin' on, look at the world today
I know we need some
(Healin')
All of these broken hearts people torn apart
I know there lookin' for (Healin')
Searchin' for love's embrace in the wrong place
I know we need
(Healin')
But it's somethin' that only He provides

It might hit you when you're sleepin' or when you're lookin' in the mirror
It's an overwhelming feelin' that you need Him nearer
And I know that you need Him, look at your situation Take his hand and follow, have no hesitation.

When your hearts been wounded tell me who can you
turn to
Do you try to improve it, or accept, what your'e goin'
through
Tell me what were you thinkin', tell me what you've
become
You feel yourself sinkin' and you know that you need some

(Healin')
Tell me what's goin' on, look at the world today
I know we need some
(Healin')
All of these broken hearts people torn apart
I know there lookin' for
(Healin')
Searchin' for love's embrace in the wrong place
I know we need
