"Now More Than Ever"

Dig my hands into the earth
Sometimes I need You so bad it hurts
I want You now more than ever
I've been living in a foreign land
Confession of a broken man
I want You now more than ever

The more I see, the more I want
The more I know, it doesn't stop
Your beauty speaks to call me home
Now more than ever
The more I feel that You are here
The more the world disappears
And all I want is to be home
Now more than ever

So tell me something that I haven't heard
I'll be hanging on every word
I want You now more than ever
How long must You make me wait
Give me hope, give me strength
I want You now more than ever

I will keep my eyes open
Keep my eyes open
Face to the sky
I will keep my eyes open
Keep my eyes open for You
