"Heal Me"

When I wake up at the end of the day
The moon comes out, the sun fades away
I get myself out of my bed and cry
Is it really me now - could this be the real thing
Is there someone else to ease the pain
So easy, so easy now, has it really gone too far
It don't matter anyhow, sometimes I feel like an Echo in the wind, that's not coming back again
I look inside my head and what I see
Are the reflections of the world.
And I see genius and insanity
You're alive - you're part of the show
You came to foresee the signs on the wall
So many tried in vain - they know the truth
Learn - how to live and fight and learn-How to fight them right and learn - how to give and take it all
You can be strong if you know who you are The signs on the wall tell you move on before it's too late
Can you see them? Do you want to be the one who's creeping on the floor?

Could it be forever? Could it all be lies?

The chaos is a killer and he knows who will fall

Help me - I need some help

Now is there someone out there

What are you waiting for

You're on the road to nowhere

The only way I know

Maybe I'm wrong, I haven't got a clue

Don't know where I belong - tell me what is true

Oh won't you come to heal me - hear me

Oh won't you come to heal me - hear me

Oh won't you come to heal me - hear me

Oh won't you come to heal me - hear me

Are you out there?

Won't you help me?

Don't know where I would go

Is there real life... forevermore?

And remember... "Keep smiling... Jesus loves you!"

That's what they say...

Can you cry forever?

It's just a matter of taste

But you say, "Do you, do you know what the truth is?"

Think don't think - what can you see

Our life is just a fantasy of someone we will never see

Therefore I break down in laughter

Now as I change my point of view

There's nothing left to make me blue - never again - no more

Come on in my friend and join the ball

Everything is beautiful - even the band - it's magic

Imagine you're superstar you gonna fly

You gonna go far - so far

Oh won't you come to heal me - hear me

Oh won't you come to heal me - hear me

Oh won't you come to heal me - hear me

Oh won't you come to heal me - hear me

Heal me! Heal me! Heal me
