

Ray Gamma

"Tribute To The Past"

Visit "Tribute To The Past" on MotoLyrics.com

He who found a way to leave to somewhere far from now

Traveling in his time machine a dream that had come true

Fly my friend, you will see, something called reality

I feel good, I'm alright, doing what I please - I travel time

Far beyond the rising sun - I ride the winds of fate

Prepared to go where my heart belongs - back to the past again

I just want to save the universe for all mankind

He wants to save the future of the earth

Step by step surroundings change as years go passing by

He only stops to gaze a little while

I push the button further on, I just can't get enough

I know I will return again but still I'm movin' on

Far beyond the rising sun - I ride the winds of fate

Prepared to go where my heart belongs - back to the
past again

As I movin' on I see things to come,

I see fears and I hear laughter

Curiosity, comin' over me, what is destined and what will happen

And I see the lies and I hear the cries and the marchin' of the people As they go to war, heaven knows what for - God I think I've had enough now Too late, too late - I can't go back no more!
I lost control of the engine
No light, no light - can't see where I have gone can't see where I have gone to Where am I now - stranded in time
So many years have passed since I had gone and I have seen what's gonna be But now I know it is useless to travel on And I will return to the time and peace I belong to Far beyond the rising sun - I ride the winds of fate
Prepared to go where my heart belongs - back to the
past again
Far beyond the rising sun - I ride the winds of fate
Prepared to go where my heart belongs - back to the
past again

Visit Ray Gamma page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.