

Ray Gamma

"Wings Of Destiny"

Visit "Wings Of Destiny" on MotoLyrics.com

Do you remember the days when living was meant to be free not looking for fortune not looking for fame the beauty of life was the key We lived as one to conquer the world a thousand dreams to come true we knew in the end we'll find the meaning of life and the truth So proud and full of passion we formed a better world we fought against oppression and wisdom was our sword On the path of glory
we searched the rainbow's end lives meant to share
where's the sign that we'd sent?
On the sad wings of destiny we're kings without a throne if you believe in unity believe 'cause you're not alone

sad wings of destiny
the haunting thoughts of pain the world's a patient, majesty, but believe the time, the time will take its toll Now its the time for a change the days of your childhood are gone the fool and the wise man will burn at the stake confusion remaining too long Violence and hate I won't see anymore the innocent victims of fate the prophets have written their words on the wall wake up before it's too late
On the path of glory
we searched the rainbow's end
lives meant to share
where's the sign that we'd sent?
On the sad wings of destiny
we're kings without a throne
if you believe in unity
believe 'cause you're not alone
sad wings of destiny
the haunting thoughts of pain
the world's a patient, majesty, but believe believe if you won't change your mind all will remain the same and soon we'll find a common end

On the path of glory
we searched the rainbow's end
lives meant to share
where's the sign that we'd sent?
On the sad wings of destiny
we're kings without a throne
if you believe in unity
believe 'cause you're not alone Sweet child of innocence are you drowning in your tears? the time has come for you my friend don't hide from evil made by our own hands let us try to fly again one day we will rise again on wings of hope to be free

Visit Ray Gamma page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.