You met her

Persuade her

But still she's miles away

She crossed her fingers, won't look back at yesterday

Sometimes you feel you can run back into her arms

You made her

Persuade her

Don't let her slip away

Don't let her slip away

Just a little more baby can't you see

You're running away

Just a little more baby stay with me

You're running away

You're running away

You're running away

Surrender

Protect her

I gave myself away

She rolls her eyes at all the stupid things I say

Sometimes I feel I can't run back into her arms

I made her

Forgave her
But some things never change
Don't let her slip away
Just a little more baby can't you see
You're running away
Just a little more baby stay with me
You're running away
You're running away
You're running away
And you know you got me running
Got me thinking 'bout the other side
And you know you got me hoping
Got me praying
Need you by my side
Oh baby
Just a little more baby can't you see
You're running away
Just a little more baby stay with me
You're running away
You're running away
You're running away
