If half that shit you said was true
It wouldn't even matter
I'm ravished by the scenes here
Now crash down and shatter
All over the ground
I never thought it was fair
But to be this bad is astonishing

You took my spirit
You took my soul
You took my will to go on
And disposed everything
They took my mind
They took my feelings
They took my life
And sent me on my way

Cancelled all my commitments
And disconnect my head
Because the longer I stay around
The further things are said
And I've said too much by now
You weren't supposed to know this
And now you'll never forget

You took my spirit
You took my soul
You took my will to go on
And disposed everything
They took my mind
They took my feelings
They took my life
And sent me on my way

So what's my motivation
To stay in this fucked up situation
And they claim I'm getting better
When I just keep feeling worse
