Wondering, keep wondering, keep wondering why
Wondering, keep wondering, keep wondering why

You used to say I was the only lover to your heart
The prince that had come down from a big castle in the sky
But I knew that there was someone else around
Who was trying to steal the girl I loved so much

How many times I had wondered if you were true to me
I knew I would not stand that any day you left me dear
But what else could I do then I was so weak
Tell me please if I'm to blame forever more

I don't know why you hurt me so much

There must be a single reason why I was so insecure
The fears I hide inside did not allow me to be glad
But if only I could win your heart again
That's the only aim I have now in my life

I guess I'll have to fight for you

(solo)

I did not make up my mind and I cry now for your love
I was not able to make the decision of my life
Yeah I knew that there was someone else around
Who was trying to steal the girl I loved so much

I don't know why you hurt me so much

Wondering, keep wondering, keep wondering why
Wondering, keep wondering, keep wondering why

Wondering, keep wondering, keep wondering why
Wondering, keep wondering, keep wondering why
