"You Should Understand"

Eight o'clock I got off the bus
And I saw her walking down the main street
And she smiled and my heart began to beat so fast

And if you ask me baby what was the next step I'll say quite honestly there's no point in explaining it at all
'Cause you should understand

I was twenty-one she was sixteen but believe me
It didn't matter to me at all 'cause I knew
Our love was real, would never disappear

And if I had a chance to tell her what I feel
I should admit no doubt
I would like to marry her immediately
'Cause she's the one I love

(solo)

And if you ask me baby what was the next step I'll say quite honestly there's no point in explaining it at
all
'Cause you should understand
That she's the kind of girl that will never break your heart
