I can't believe this,
I wasn't sober, but hey I am today it's exactly the same my opinion wouldn't change yea you frame your pictures, but also keep at bay what you actually thought, cause it's just not what you say you've got your own excuses, always got something good to say but your not standing up when the truth is not so great you leave that job to others, cause you could be the one to blame

you'll speak when he's away

Against the clock i've waited but now I understand it's always ending up the same I just wanna tell the truth, but should I lie today:
and shut up like the rest'till you're away gave my opinion, some call it open, I call it regular and I wished everyone would have treated me the same the words are spoken, didn't work out so great so I guess honesty is just cruel and insane and you've got your own excuses, always got something good to say

but your not standing up when the truth is not so great
to blame

but now i understand it's always ending up the same
I just wanna tell the truth, but should I lie today:
and shut up like the rest'till you're away

don't kill the messenger
