I lie awake cause you still run around inside okey I guess you figured I would understand but all we prooved and all we've done, thought we build up something strong are you as happy as you pretend I guess I'm not aloud to keep my hope alive our years lie on the floor they were worth the struggle but not anymore yeah, i'm supposed to let it go right now my bed's too big and shavingcream is useless since you're not here I can't put it in your clothes now anyway now I'll just hope it's crap that true love never dies, so I can find myself more reasons to be happy you're away

I guess I'm not aloud to keep my hope alive
yeah, i'm supposed to let it go

I'll store our time i'll store it bravely, save in my heart before it's faded and I'll be fine but I won't fake it I'll leave that job to you if that's o.k cause i can't make it all alone and we'll both loose the game who first picks up the phone and if the bond we had just drifts away, we will remember it that way to me the memory's are precious everyday

I guess I'm not aloud to keep my hope alive
yeah, guess it's time to let it go guess it's time to let it go but I'll store our time i'll store it bravely, save in my heart before it's faded

but I won't fake it I'll leave that job to you so let's just store our time
