In my heart, I'm still healing
But in my chest stops my breathing
Hold my life afloat now
Keep it here with me, keep it some place
It's the only thing I need now

And if I were a grasping lie
And if I do the things you say I do
Then why would you help me by
In these unjust, desputing times

Take it all away and burn it
Passed times they are all screwed up
The things that show through my eyes now
Is this really me or is it someone
Who the hell really knows

And if I were a grasping lie
And if I do the things you say I do
Then why would you help me by
In these unjust, desputing times

Help me, help me, help me, help me by

Is this the end of the road called nothing?
Is this the end of the road called nothing?

And if I were a grasping lie
And if I do the things you say I do
Then why would you help me by
In these unjust, desputing times

And if I were a grasping lie
And if I do the things you say I do
Then why would you help me by
In these unjust, desputing times

Help me, help me, help me, help me by
Help me, help me, help me, help me by
