Dressed to perfection with no one to impress they've all stopped watching your show of selfishness but the world will turn still a shock to you i'm sure with all you offer how could they possibly ignore you they used to adore you

now life is awful
how do you keep on breathing
it's just unbearable
how do you stand to go on suffering so when no one could know how hard it must be to be you it's sad but no one cares there'll be no intervention it's clear you're starving but only for attention how could you help it it could never be your fault beauty and money put you in this catapult into that pretty famous girls' cult

how do you keep on breathing
it's just unbearable

with all those lights in your face your image all over the place you poor thing we'd love to stay and dry your sobs
but we've all got lives we've all got jobs but good for you
you proved us wrong no one thought you'd last even this long

now life is awful
how do you do it
it's just unbearable

how hard it must be to be a p princess locked up in a fortress but if you let your hair down you might see what life is like for us here on the ground
