Some things I guess I won't forget
Like my first time on the night we met
I wish I could go back there tonight, tonight

Looking in your eyes the way you held me tight
Where'd it all the wrong, when it felt so right
There's nowhere I'd rather be tonight, tonight
Tonight

Funny how you said people never change
Always be together 'til the very end
But that was then and this is now

Funny how I held on to your every word
Trusted and believed, no matter what I heard
But that was then and this is now

You and me were like a movie scene
Superstars playing in a teenage dream
There's no rewinding life tonight, tonight

Guess you could've broken someone else's heart
I'm the lucky winner because I played the part
Don't wanna say goodbye tonight, tonight
Tonight

Funny how you said people never change
Always be together 'til the very end
But that was then and this is now

Funny how I held on to your every word
Trusted and believed no matter what I heard
But that was then and this is now

I'll be your first, my love
There'll never ever be another one
Don't worry I'll tell no one
You and me together'll be so much fun

I'll be your first, my love
There'll never ever be another one
Don't worry I'll tell no one

You and me together'll be so much fun

Sometimes you gotta let things be
Even when the truth is that you lied to me
But I want to keep these thoughts away, from me
From me

It's the little things that I dream about
That no one ever talks about
The little things I think about
That no one ever dreams about
The kisses that were promises
That were suppose to be planned

Funny how you said people never change
We'll always be together 'til the very end
But that was then and this is now

Funny how I held on to your every word
Trusted and believed, no matter what I heard
But that was then and this is now

Funny how you said we would never change
Let me tell you something baby, life is strange
But that was then and this is now
That was then and this is now

Remember me, remember you
Remember me, remember you
Remember me, remember you
