Hey man, I remember just a few short years ago
Talked through letters, mutual interest
We were always on the phone

I have thought about you many times
Even I didn't know
Started crossing paths and sounds
And how we understand the dreams that go-o

And even now, you can be here
Though you're far away
All the times you lifted me so high
I can't forget

And different faces, different scenes
Still seems so far away
But it's always great to be with you again

Times have been so strange

So many people in and out
Getting older in my age
While these freedom thoughts stay young

I can thank you for the inspiration
And the honesty you gave
And the times those feelings came to me
During tough times where I thought of giving up, so

And even now, you can be here
Though you're far away
All the times you lifted me so high
I can't forget

And different faces, different scenes
Still seems so far away
But it's always great to be with you again
