People laughing
People hating
Violence brewing
Stillness waiting
Will you be able to read the signs

People laughing
People cheating
Streets are full of homeless sleeping
Will you be able to stop the crime

One day you'll be over your fears it will take time
Someday you'll be wearing your tears inside your smile

The sun will rise (in your world)
The moon will shine (in your world)
The years will go by (in your world)
You will be alright (in your world)

Children laughing
Children playing
TVs full of mindless sayings
Will you be able to hear them cry

Children watching
Children knowing
Not too sure of where their going
Will you able to give them time

One day you'll be over your fears it will take time
Someday you'll be wearing your tears inside your smile

The sun will rise (in your world)
The moon will shine (in your world)
The years will go by (in your world)
You will be alright

In your world
In your world
In your world
In your world
In your world

In your world
In your world
In your world
In your world
In your world
In your world
In your world
