safety net, i won't forget you're there.
air is so unreliable - you can't count on anyone anymore.
safety net, you won't forget i'm here?
it's clear i've been holding on too hard,
but it's so far to the ground.
i won't look down. i won't look down.
i won't look down. i trust you so far.
so good. so far, so good. safety net,
you won't forget i'm here?
fear is so predictable, distinctive as instinct goes.
it's not so much that i don't have faith in what's in store, but it's like the falling man who counts his fate floor by floor. he says: so far,
so good. so far, so good. so far, i trus
