The air I breathe is thinning
My sense are all gone
Everything around is spinning
Can't tell from right or wrong
Collapsing, gasping
Falling down right on my face
These sacs and wounds won't heal here
Is there a brighter place?
So here I'll stay in my own world
Til it's over

How can you understand
What I've been through and done?
You can't relate to me, I am the only one
Why can't I understand
My thought and emotions?
Who can relate to me, if I am the only one?

I'm lost in a world that holds and controls
That hides the truth from the lies that I've been told
Try to rely on what this world can give
Gave me a hunger from a truth that did not exist
And if I try to cover up my fears
I'll close my eyes completely, the pain might disappear
So here I'll stay in my own world
Til it's over

How can you understand
What I've been through and done?
You can't relate to me, I am the only one
Why can't I understand
My thought and emotions?
Who can relate to me, if I am the only one?

Watch me as I break down
And watch me disappear
And watch me as I'm crying
And watch me disappear
Disappear, disappear, disappear

How can you understand

What I've been through and done?
You can't relate to me, I am the only one
How can you understand
What I've been through and done?
You can't relate to me, I am the only one
Why can't I understand
My thought and emotions?
Who can relate to me, if I am the only one?

You can't relate to me
You can't relate to me, I am the only one
