The skin against my skin, I'm begging to resist
I want to scream for more, I want to run out the door
The skin against my skin, the skin of my best friend
We never even kissed, so how'd we get to this?

He loves me, oh so much but he never shared his touch
As natural as it feels, I don't want it to kill
Something so flawless that we both cherish
And as bad as I need it, we could ruin something so perfect

Can you give it to me just like, no, 'cause we're perfect
Damn it feels so good to, no, we're too perfect
Who made the rules, who drew the line shouldn't be crossed?
But what if it's the best thing, what if it's all lost?

Can you give it to me just like, no, 'cause we're perfect
Damn it feels so good to, no, we're too perfect
Who made the rules, who drew the line shouldn't be crossed?
But what if it's the best thing, what if it's all lost?

He thinks we'll be fine, maybe create a stronger bond
But then he just a man and clearly I'm all women
When we get up to leave, tell me how it will be
And the next time I see you, will you feel like a stranger?
Have we entering a danger zone?

Can you give it to me just like, no, 'cause we're perfect
Damn it feels so good to, no, we're too perfect
Who made the rules, who drew the line shouldn't be crossed?
But what if it's the best thing, what if it's all lost?

Can you give it to me just like, no, 'cause we're perfect
Damn it feels so good to, no, we're too perfect
Who made the rules, who drew the line shouldn't be crossed?
But what if it's the best thing, what if it's all lost?

What if we want more from each other?
What if we become only part-time lovers?
What if our drama-free friendship suffers?
What if everything we've built get lost under the covers?

Will, I think it's the same the way you scream out my name
Thought it would ever come to this
Who'd thought I'd like your touch, your kiss
I don't wanna miss this opportunity, maybe we're suppose to be
Stop askin' questions, and guessing and keep it going

Can you give it to me just like, no, 'cause we're perfect
Damn it feels so good to, no, we're too perfect
Who made the rules, who drew the line shouldn't be crossed?
But what if it's the best thing, what if it's all lost?

Can you give it to me just like, no, 'cause we're perfect
Damn it feels so good to, no, we're too perfect
Who made the rules, who drew the line shouldn't be crossed?
But what if it's the best thing, what if it's all lost?

Can you give it to me just like, no, 'cause we're perfect
Damn it feels so good to, no, we're too perfect
Who made the rules, who drew the line shouldn't be crossed?
But what if it's the best thing, what if it's all lost?

Can you give it to me just like, no, 'cause we're perfect
Damn it feels so good to, no, we're too perfect
Who made the rules, who drew the line shouldn't be crossed?
But what if it's the best thing, what if it's all lost?
