No more teardrops over you
You broke this heart that once loved you so true
Now all my cryin' times are through
And from now on there'll be no teardrops over you

How many nights did I lie in my bed all alone
How many hours did I wait for your call by the phone
But you never came and you never called foolish me
I've had enough of the pain and now I'm breakin'
the chain
Now you're free

No more teardrops over you
You broke this heart that once loved you so true
Now all my cryin' times are through
And from now on there'll be no teardrops over you

Solo

How many times can I pick up the pieces again
How many ways can a broken heart find to mend
How could I have been so blind not to see
I've had enough of the pain and now I'm breakin'
the chain
Now you're free

No more teardrops over you
You broke this heart that once loved you so true
Now all my cryin' times are through
And from now on there'll be no teardrops over you

No more teardrops over you
You broke this heart that once loved you so true
Now all my cryin' times are through
And from now on there'll be no teardrops over you

And from now on there'll be no teardrops over you
