You cover me with kisses
You always walk me home
You say I make you head go nasty
When you are alone

Keep eyes on me at parties
You push their hands away
You know they're in it for the game
But say that you won't play it

It feels like all you want is me
So how come you won't say it

You know I know they watch you
I see but I don't say
I hear the bathroom conversation
I just shrug away

'Cause I've had you in the ocean
And I've have you on the floor
You must remember the game
You know just how to play it

It feels like all you want is me
So how come you won't say it?
How come you won't say?

Silence is golden, promises go rusty
Sometimes when you talk too much
The works get old and dusty
Don't say it to me, I won't say it to you

As long as we're not saying it
As long as we're not saying it
As long as we're not saying it
I know something else we can do

So just ignore my weakness
For boys in noisy bands
They always seem to say too much
They always need a hand

Remember when your lonely
In places far away
That you're my favorite game
I might lose but I'll play it

It feels like all you want is me
So you don't have to say it

You don't have to say it
You don't have to say it
You don't have to say it
You don't have to say it
You don't have to say it
